The history of Russia is as enigmatic and thought-provoking as vast and boundless are the country's steppes. The abundance in natural resources did not lead to the prosperity of its people but often attracted numerous invaders from other lands. Despite the plights of serfdom, tsarism, dictatorship and wars Russia has become the maker of astonishing achievements in culture and science and has navigated the course of history to become the Russia of today, the Russia that we know and invite you to discover during our historical tours.

Day 8. Irkutsk

Disembarkation at Listvyanka, transfer to Irkutsk with a visit to a local souvenir and fish market.

Supplementary: domestic flights to / from Irkutsk, accommodation in hotel and excursion program in Moscow before / after the cruise.

Ogoi Island is one of Baikal's places of power. In 2005 the Stupa of Enlightenment was erected. If you walk around the Stupa barefoot three times, it can help you clear your mind of negative emotions, worries and stress. Make a wish, but for it to come true come here with pure thoughts only.

Olkhon Island is the largest island on Lake Baikal. It is the geographical, historical and sacral center of the lake. In addition it is the birthplace of the Buryat nation and according to the legends the place where the divine gift was bestowed on the first Buryat shaman. Shamanka Rock is one of the nine sacred shrines in Asia. The cave in the Rock is considered the home of the spirit-protector of Olkhon Island.

Davsha village is located on the territory of Barguzinsky Nature Reserve, the oldest reserve in Russia. It was founded in 1916 as Barguzinsky Sable Reserve to protect and increase sables' population, widely killed for their valuable fur. In 1946, Davsha was founded as a scientific settlement in the reserve. Since 1953, the Nature Museum has been open. Here you can learn the story of the reserve, take a glimpse into the diversity of its wildlife. The museum displays a unique herbarium and a collection of local birds and insects.

Chivyrkuisky Bay is one of the most interesting, attractive and popular sights in Zabaikalsky National Park. The bay is shallow, the water temperature rises to 22-24C. The bay cuts deep into the land, more than any other bay of Lake Baikal, and is the most picturesque of them all. Tourists are enchanted with its sandy beaches, islands, scenic capes, thermal springs, its thicket of bushes and colonies of birds. The banks of the bay are uneven and form many creeks, safely shielded from the wind. One of the creeks, Zmeinaya, is famous for its springs which have outputs both under the water and on the shore.

The gargantuan proportions of Lake Baikal make it altogether impossible to fit all its unmissable sights in one land tour. What is more, the rocky relief of the shoreline largely uninhabited by people creates unsurpassable obstacles even for experienced hikers. Cruises on Lake Baikal is a sought-after opportunity to visit its wildest spots of pristine natural beauty in closest proximity to its crystal-clear water and feel the power of the Siberian land.

All programs are preliminary. The excursion blocks can be replaced with similar ones without changing their key points.

The days are filled with memorable excursions, sumptuous meals, presentations by onboard experts and possibilities for incredible displays of aurora borealis – the Northern Lights.

Day 9. Back across Denmark Strait

Crossing back Denmark Strait toward Iceland. Presentations and workshops by onboard experts, as well as the range of onboard recreation facilities, ensure that this day at sea is not idly spent.

Day 10. Westfjords, Iceland

The expedition day in the Westfjords area – possibility to see the beauty of Iceland. Taking advantage of every weather favourable condition, the onboard expert chooses the best places to discover breathtaking coastal fjords, jagged bird cliffs, and tiny fishing villages embracing traditional ways of life.

Day 11. Reykjavík, Iceland

Breakfast onboard, transfer to the airport or to the city center for additional program (upon request).

Expedition cruises will give you the opportunity to visit remote and inaccessible places, without giving up a high level of comfort, to learn and see in person what most can only see in travel TV shows. A small number of passengers contributes to closer contact with nature, friendly communication between passengers, flexibility in the daily schedule, as well as maintaining the stability of fragile ecosystems.

Antarctic Peninsula (12 days / 11 nights)

Winter program: from October to March / 5* luxury vessel / Full board
